

Destination Marketing and Community-Based Tourism

TUR-004 · Week 4 of 10 · Tourism and Destination Management

Study independently · keep a notebook · save your evidence

THIS WEEK'S OUTCOME

Present a practical marketing and partnership plan.

STUDY RHYTHM

6 hours

Short sessions work best: Read · Watch · Make · Reflect.

START HERE · IN PLAIN LANGUAGE

In plain language, this lesson helps you work on present a practical marketing and partnership plan.. Treat visitor experience and communication as a skill you can build in small steps: study one idea, compare it with a real Liberian or regional example, and save a short piece of evidence of what you understood.

01

READ

Find the main idea.

02

WATCH

Notice a method.

03

MAKE

Try it locally.

04

REFLECT

Check what changed.

Your learning path

READ FOR THE IDEA

Read for the main idea: Present a practical marketing and partnership plan.

WATCH FOR THE METHOD

Watch for one method or example connected to visitor experience and communication.

MAKE EVIDENCE

Apply the idea locally and save brand and community proposal.

ESSENTIAL QUESTION

How could visitor experience and communication improve a real situation connected to Destination Marketing and Community-Based Tourism?

Write one sentence before you begin. Revisit it after you apply the activity.

Detailed lesson notes

CONCEPT NOTE

This original lecture note places “Present a practical marketing and partnership plan.” inside the wider work of Destination Marketing and Community-Based Tourism. The week is not only about remembering a definition. It is about understanding the choices behind the work: visitor experience, local context, communication, community benefit, and sustainability. Begin with a local destination, tour, attraction, or travel experience, then use the linked academic source to compare your first idea with a more formal explanation.

A useful way to learn this topic is to move from a situation to a decision and then to evidence. First describe what is happening and who needs a better result. Next identify the information, people, tools, or constraints that shape the decision. Finally make a small, responsible attempt and explain what you would improve. This sequence keeps self-study practical and prevents a learner from copying a solution without understanding the reason for it.

01 • PURPOSE

Purpose: connect visitor experience and communication to the outcome “Present a practical marketing and partnership plan.”.

02 • METHOD

Method: listen to different stakeholders, describe the experience, identify a responsible improvement, and set a simple measure.

03 • EVIDENCE

Evidence: save a short record that another learner could understand and review.

INSTRUCTIONS • WORK IN ORDER

1. Read the guide and linked source for the main concept; write down two unfamiliar terms.
2. Describe a local or regional example without including private or identifying information.
3. Complete the weekly exercise using safe sample data, a fictional scenario, or your own non-sensitive work.
4. Review your result against the self-check questions and record one improvement for the next session.

WEEKLY EXERCISE

Exercise: Destination Marketing and Community-Based Tourism learners should listen to different stakeholders, describe the experience, identify a responsible improvement, and set a simple measure. Use the week's focus as your test case and save brand and community proposal.

Turn study into skill

PRACTICE LABORATORY

Complete a guided visitor experience and communication activity using a Liberian or regional case study.

Keep your work simple, local, and real. A basic note, recording, checklist, screenshot, calculation, or plan is valid practice.

EVIDENCE CHECKLIST

- ☐ I named the main idea.
- ☐ I noted one example.
- ☐ I tried one small action.
- ☐ I saved brand and community proposal.

SELF-CHECK · BEFORE YOU FINISH

1. What is the main idea in your own words?
2. Which decision or assumption most affects the result?
3. What evidence would show that your approach is useful and responsible?
4. What is one next action I can test or improve?

REFLECT AND CONNECT

In 3–5 sentences, explain how this week's concept could improve a real organisation, community service, workplace, or learner project. Identify one assumption, one risk, and one action you would test next.

Vocabulary + notebook

Use this final page as a learning checkpoint. Clear terms and brief notes make independent study easier to continue.

SMALL SELF-STUDY GLOSSARY

self-directed study (self-study) means you manage your own learning plan. learning evidence (evidence) is the proof you save. A learning source (source) is credited to its original provider.

Glossary reference list evidence – learning evidence: A saved note, plan, calculation, recording, checklist, or other item that shows what you can do.

self-study – self-directed study: A learner plans, studies, practises, and checks understanding without waiting for a live class.

source – learning source: An external reading or video credited to its original provider.

FINISH WELL

Choose a time for your next study session. Small regular sessions are more useful than waiting for a perfect long study day.

SHARE SAFELY

Discuss an idea with a trusted peer, mentor, or colleague. Keep your own notes and do not share sensitive personal or workplace data.
